Tate Takes On Tutoring

This week, we check in first with Tate Elementary School in Las Vegas. Site Coordinator Gabby is working hard on academic achievement with her students!!

Tate students with gifts from the Shane Victorino Foundation

Gabby's students at Tate Elementary get lots of extra help, thanks to some academic clubs she has started!

The Sight Words Club (common and frequently used words elementary school students are required to learn to help their reading and comprehension vocabulary) practices each Monday, Wednesday and Friday before school.

The Homework Club is available Tuesday and Thursday mornings before school. Students can bring in homework and Gabby helps them with any concepts they have trouble understanding.

Eye Care 4 Kids has already been to Tate twice this year and is coming back one more time.

And just in time for the holidays, the Shane Victorino Foundation provided gifts for some of our students, making the holiday season that much brighter!

Hug High's Holiday Help

CIS of Western Nevada Site Coordinators, Steve and Katie, both University of Nevada, Reno (UNR) graduates reached out to Stacey Muse, the Service-Learning Coordinator at the university who connected them with Lauren Slemenda, Resident Director of the Argenta Hall dorm.

More than 300 UNR students who live in Argenta Hall donated more $350 worth of much-needed supplies and stocked the shelves just in time to meet growing needs during the 3-week long holiday break.

It was the perfect way to build awareness about both a post-graduation path for Hug High students as well as a great example of giving back to the community, by showing college students lending a helping hand to their potential future underclassmen.

The response from the Hug HS students? "You rock, UNR!"

Donations from UNR to Hug High

Have a great week and thank you for everything you do for CIS of Nevada and have a wonderful holiday!
